

Memorable Ways to Dine

Micato's Private Dinner in the City Palace of Jaipur, India

Excerpted from an article by Ann Abel
July 11, 2016

Micato India guide Hem Singh (left) orchestrates a Rajasthani royal dinner

Micato Safaris' deep connections in India allow the tour company access to destinations few others can reach after hours. For example: the City Palace in Jaipur, one of the most elaborate in Rajasthan. The menu befits the setting: The private dinner celebrates Rajasthani royal cuisine, an array of colorful, spicy and unique dishes that was designed to be not just sustenance but art. Hundreds of cooks worked in the palaces and passed down their closely guarded recipes, and Micato's chefs found a way to get them.